A Deep Dive into Dyslexia: The Science of Teaching and Expert Teaching

Dyslexia impacts an estimated 5-20% of the population. While dyslexia exists on a continuum from mild to severe, it is one of the most prevalent types of a specific learning disability. This session will address the capacity of educators to recognize and instruct students experiencing core difficulty with word recognition, fluency, spelling and writing, otherwise known as dyslexia, through knowledge of evidence informed instructional and assessment practices in reading specific to students with dyslexia. This training is appropriate for general and special educators, instructional coaches, reading specialists, school psychologists and related service providers.

Participants will be expected to complete readings and a pre- and post-dyslexia knowledge survey to earn 1.0 CEU.

Readings will be sent by separate email prior to the summer institute.

Instructor(s): Lynne Loeser

Participants will get 1.0 CEUs

Special Assistance: Any individuals requesting accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act should contact the support staff before the training.*
